CONCLUSION

The Student Mobility Program (KKL) scheduled by the university aims to provide experience, knowledge and culture in the countries visited, add new friends and establish friendships with institutions that have worked together before. Implementation of the Student Mobility Program which was attended by KKL participants in Thailand is very helpful if there are students who want to take part in student exchanges or continue their studies to Thailand. In addition, KKL participants also get new friends and can share tourism, culture, language and taste of food from Thailand.

The implementation of MPAs in Malaysia helped strengthen brotherhood with Muhammadiyah institutions in Malaysia and knew how far and active the development of the Muhammadiyah movement outside Indonesia, especially in Malaysia. In Malaysia also KKL participants know the history and culture of Malaysia, tourism in Malaysia, and also taste food from Malaysia which is not much different from Indonesia.

The implementation of the MPA in Singapore entertains participants with the atmosphere, Singapore activities, and tourism in Singapore. In Singapore also KKL participants were notified in detail but briefly about the history of Singapore.
